George Washington's
MOUNT VERNON
ESTATE & GARDENS
AMERICA'S MOST POPULAR HISTORIC ESTATE

George Washington's Mount Vernon is not only America's most popular historic home—it is also the country's oldest historic preservation project. Walk through the Mansion, faithfully painted in remarkably bright colors and furnished with original heirlooms. Here, you'll explore history first hand and get to know the "real" George Washington. You'll share his panoramic view from the windows and see the bed in which he died. More than a dozen outbuildings are meticulously restored, including a major greenhouse, stables, slave quarters, and kitchen. History abounds here with museum exhibitions, active archaeological digs, the Slave Memorial and Burial Ground and more...

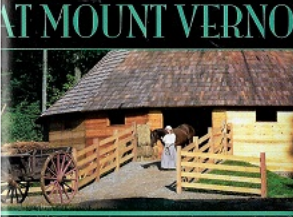

George Washington wrote, "No estate in United America is more pleasantly situated than this."

Today visitors can enjoy the same breathtaking views across the Potomac, tour remarkable gardens, hike a new nature trail, pay their respects at Washington's Tomb, and take a Potomac River Sightseeing Cruise—the newest and truly the coolest way to see this magnificent estate. Take a break from the city—soak up the beauty of the great outdoors at Mount Vernon.

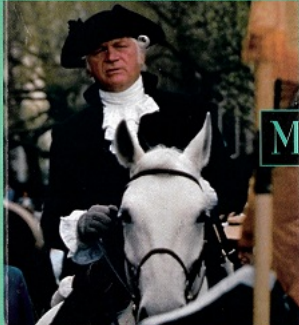

More than ever Mount Vernon brings history alive! Exciting annual events include the Wine Tasting Festival in May, 18th-Century Crafts Fair in September, Candlelight Tours in December, events surrounding George Washington's Birthday in February, and an action-packed Hands-on History tent all summer long. Visitors can enjoy a new audio tour of the plantation, special guided tours on Slave Life or Washington's Gardens, and a terrific Adventure Map for kids.

Don't miss Mount Vernon's newest attraction—a working four-acre farm! Adventure awaits at the new George Washington Pioneer Farmer site.

MORE THAN EVER..

where you'll watch horses tread wheat in the exciting 16-sided barn or listen to a dramatic surround-sound interpretation. Hands-on activities, a new video program, farm animals, and costumed workers make this extra-fun for all!
